COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1912

ARRESTS FOR DYNAMITING IN WEEK

Date Kept Secret by Government Probably Saturday or Monday

32 INDICTMENTS RETURNED Capiases Designating Amount of Bond for Each Defendant Issued by Court

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 6.—Union labor officials and agents, said to number between 20 and 30, whom the government holds criminally responsible with the McNamara and Artie E. McManigal for perpetrating more than 100 explosions in cities from Massachusetts to California in the last six years, including the wrecking of the Los Angeles Times building, were indicted today. Thirty-two indictments were returned. Capiases for arrests have been issued and all the defendants are to be taken into custody on a day secretly fixed by the government, known to be within a week. March 12 has been set for the arraignment before Federal Judge A. B. Anderson in Indianapolis.

The papers for the arrests designate the amount of bond which the defendants may give in the federal districts in which they reside for their appearance here. The amounts of the bonds in the individual cases were not made known, but it was said in the aggregate they would total $300,000.

Although the names of the defendants and their exact number were ordered withheld pending the arrests, it was said probably more than 32 and possibly 40 men are accused, many as many as one defendant was named in some of the indictments. Among the men, it was said, were other union officials or men who were charged with affiliation with the dynamiters.

Asked if any men "higher up" had been indicted, United States District Attorney Miller refused to say. Information came from another source, however, that no officials higher than those who had had headquarters in Indianapolis were involved.

Maintain McNamara Acted Alone.
Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and Herbert S. Hocking, the secretary-treasurer, when informed of the indictments, repeated their statements that J. J. McNamara acted in his own responsibility when he organized his "dynamiting crew." Hocking succeeded McNamara as secretary-treasurer of the association.

With the return of indictments Mr. Miller, who made an inquiry last October, and the federal grand jury issued a six-weeks' hearing of testimony, in which it is said, McNamara's confession, given by him before the jurors and involving a number of papers taken from the headquarters of the iron workers, had important bearings.

Those papers were said not only to have shown under what circumstances McNamara was induced to start into the dynamiting business against "open shop" contractors, beginning in Detroit in June, 1907, but also to have lighted the six-month-old controversy between McNamara and the federal grand jury for organizing purposes.

It took the grand jury 10 minutes to vote the indictments. Armed with two indicting suit cases from which they later extracted the indictments, some of which were two or three inches thick, the grand jury filed into Judge Anderson's court at 2:10 p. m.

"Have you anything to report?" Judge Anderson asked.

"We have 32 indictments," Foreman Herbert M. Glassbrenner said, handing the bundles of typewritten documents to a clerk.

Court Praises Jurors.
"The court thinks some expression of gratitude is due you for your faithfulness," Judge Anderson said. "You will not be dismissed at this time, as it is possible but not probable, you may be recalled before the end of the term in May."

District Attorney Miller first explained that only 32 of the indictments pertained to the dynamite conspiracy, then held a conference with Judge Anderson as to the issuance of capias and fixing the bonds were arranged.

Some delay in forwarding copies of the indictment to the federal districts where the defendants are to be arrested would ensue, Mr. Miller said, because 3,000 typewritten sheets had to be prepared.

Lunt's Friends Announce Senatorial Candidacy
CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 6.—The candidacy of Judge Horace G. Lunt, of Colorado Springs, for the United States senate to succeed Simon Guggenheim, was announced today by several of his friends who are in Cheyenne to attend the annual meetings of Colorado mining companies. At a conference last night Judge Lunt's name was proposed by James F. Burns, and met with the instant approval of the group. The last time Lunt has been elected to the last term of the Colorado bar, and served a term in the bench of the Sixth judicial district.

BURNS LOSES IN ISABELLA FIGHT QUENTIN FACTION STILL IN CONTROL

Harris and Burns Elected to Place on Company's Board of Directors

James F. Burns, who was fighting to gain control of the management of the Isabella mine, lost by about 150,000 votes at the annual meeting of the Isabella Mining company, which held its closing session in Cheyenne, Wyo., last night.

The Quentin faction, which remains in control, elected three directors: E. E. Quentin, A. C. Gardner and E. M. Kirton, and the Burns faction elected two—James F. Burns and Ira Harris.

A meeting of the directors will probably be held in Denver this week for the purpose of electing officers, and it is practically certain that, with the exception of A. J. Steyer, vice president, and J. R. Young, auditor, the old officers will be re-elected. They are E. E. Quentin, president; A. C. Gardner, general manager; and E. M. Kirton, secretary-treasurer. It is probable that Burns will be elected to the vice presidency and Ira Harris to the auditorship.

Allen L. Harris received a telegram from Gardner early last evening stating that the Quentin faction was ahead by 150,000 votes, and this was substantiated later by press reports stating that Burns lost by a vote of 1,187,444 to 1,031,042. Much bitterness was displayed throughout the meeting and at the close Burns said: "The result means a victory for me at the next meeting."

Although 2,215,786 shares of stock were voted at the meeting, nearly all of it was by proxy, only a few of the stockholders being present.

Many Delegates at Good Roads Meeting

Judging from the letters received by Chairman Leonard E. Curtis and the reservations made at the hotels in this city, many delegates from outside El Paso county will be in attendance at the good roads conference to be held in the Chamber of Commerce headquarters this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Every county in the state through which the road will pass will send not less than two delegates, and the people residing in the territory between El Paso and Victor and the central junction, where there are three possible routes, have organized large delegations to attend the convention and fight to make the route they advocate the official one.

The purpose of the convention is to form a permanent organization to develop the central road through Colorado, with the end in view of finally making it a part of a transcontinental highway. That part of the route between the Kansas line and this city is known as the central transcontinental highway, but it is the desire of the people living along the line of the central Colorado road that the transcontinental route follow the central route through this state.

ERRONEOUSLY PUT NAME OF WITNESS WITH DEFENDANTS

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Feb. 6.—A review of the testimony given in the trial here of Benjamin Marks, who was charged with conspiracy in the John C. Mabray swindle syndicate, today disclosed that the name of W. H. McGrath, who has given valuable information to the prosecution, had been erroneously included in a list of men indicted by the grand jury.

Mr. McGrath, who is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and a member of the Minnesota bar, was one of the first to complain of the operations of the Mabray gang, and on his testimony the men charged with complicity in the Mabray swindle were indicted.

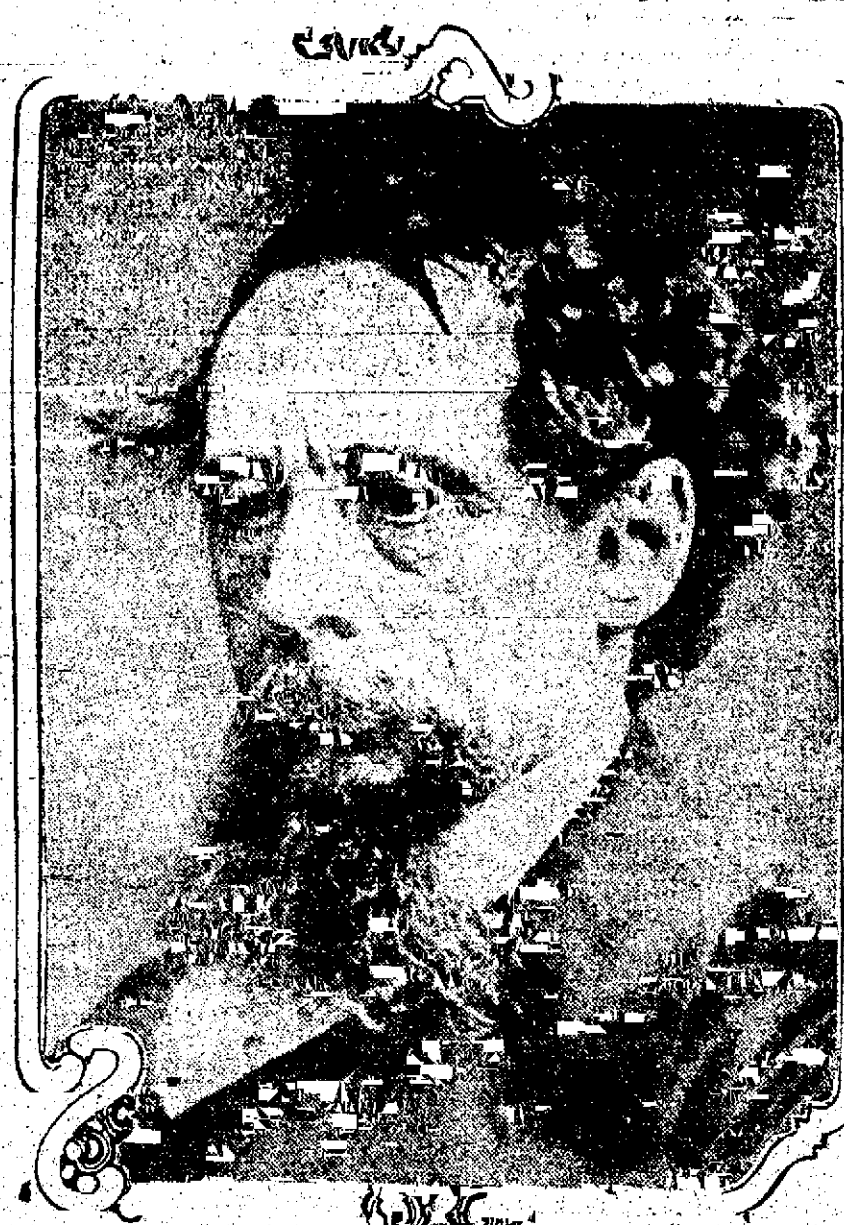

The introduction of many names in testimony given December 27, detailing the stages of the Mabray prosecution, led to confusion which placed Mr. McGrath's name among those indicted in place of where it properly belonged, among the witnesses.

SUPERVISORS FAVOR FULL ALLOTMENTS OF 160 ACRES

DENVER, Feb. 6.—Allotment of a full 160-acre tract to each homesteader was favored today by the members of the annual conference of the forest supervisors of district No. 2, in session here. The district comprises 29 forest reserves in Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

The resolution adopted today declared that when there are several applicants for the same tract of land, better results are obtained if allotment of 160 acres is made to one person than if the tract is divided into smaller parts.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. TAFT RECEIVE FOR CONGRESSMEN
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—President and Mrs. Taft received in the White house tonight in honor of the members of congress. This session was the last but one of the winter. The series will close February 20, with the reception to the army and navy.

Photograph of Charles Dickens, the English novelist, whose one hundredth anniversary of his birth is being celebrated all over the civilized world today. Dickens was born at Portsmouth, England, on February 7, 1812.

CENTENARY OF BIRTH OF CHARLES DICKENS BEING CELEBRATED TODAY EVERYWHERE ENGLISH IS SPOKEN

Today is Dickens day. Exactly 100 years ago, on February 7, 1812, Charles John Huffam Dickens was born at Portsmouth, England, in a humble little terraced house with wooden shutters. Twenty-four years later he was sending rare and wonderful laughter around the world, and onward from that great Pickwickian year of 1836 until his death in 1870, he gave to mankind an entertainment unequaled since the days of Shakespeare, and came closer to the hearts of his fellow-men than any other writer from the beginning of time to the present day.

Charles Dickens has been dead over 40 years, but he has not been forgotten. What was said of John Brown is true still, for true of Dickens: "His soul goes marching on."

The centenary of his birth is being celebrated in all corners of the world today. Everywhere that English is spoken or read, and that amounts almost to saving everywhere, homage is being paid to the memory of the great writer and novelist. "From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand," the praises of the most loved English author are being sung, his works are being read and reread, banquets are being held in commemoration of him, Dickens plays are being given, memorial meetings are being held, his name being extolled in every manner that could be devised by man. In England, in India, in Australia, throughout America, events are being given to make memorable the day.

Mass Meeting in New York.
In New York they are to hold a big mass meeting tonight in Carnegie hall, one of the largest auditoriums in the metropolis, at which eulogies of the famous author will be recited. William Watson, the English poet, has written a poem for the occasion, and he has crossed the ocean to accept the invitation of leading New Yorkers to read the poem in person.

This great meeting, which will be attended by at least 5,000 persons, is but typical, on a larger scale, of hundreds of other gatherings that will be held in all parts of the country. But the people of the United States gratefully to the memory of the man who has given them so much of the wealth of life by his work, are arising nobly to the obligation, and are doing more than their part in observing the occasion.

At the New York meeting, dozens of the nation's prominent men will take part in the exercises. Hamilton Wright Mabie will preside, and among the others active will be Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton, President John F. Rinder of the College of the City of New York, Augustus Thomas, Elgin R. L. Goddard, ex-President Roosevelt, Andrew Carnegie, J. Pierpont Morgan, Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin and Frances Hodgson Burnett.

Started With Banquet Last Night.
The convalescence is the culmination of the celebration in the metropolis, but began with a big banquet last night.

VISITS SCHOOL; FALLS AND FRACTURES WRIST

Miss Sarah Huntoon, 2018 North Tenth street, fell down the stairs at Lillier school yesterday noon, sustaining a badly fractured wrist, a cut on the forehead and numerous bruises. Dr. G. A. Boyd was called, and, after giving medical attention, took her to her home, where she was resting easily last night. She will probably recover in a short time.

Miss Huntoon is a teacher in the Bristol school, and was making a visit to the Lillier building. She had started down stairs when some one called to her, and, without stopping, looked back over her shoulder. This caused her to lose her balance and she fell the length of the stairs.

CITY OFFICIALS WANT REDUCTION REQUEST FROM PINCHOT NOT GRANTED

To Support Graves in Proposed Reduction in Forestry Appropriation

The Chamber of Commerce and the city of Colorado Springs officially stand with Chief Forester Graves in the proposed million dollar reduction of the forestry appropriation bill now before congress. On the other hand Clifford Pinchot, former chief of the Forest service, says that the money is needed.

Mayor Avery received a telegram Monday afternoon from Mr. Pinchot telling of the proposed reduction. Mr. Pinchot in his telegram asked the city and civic bodies to urge the representatives in congress to oppose the reduction. He pointed out that the money was needed in protecting the forests and for further propagation purposes. Similar telegrams were sent out by Mr. Pinchot, it is understood, to other cities of the country, where there is direct interest in forestry work.

Following a conference yesterday between Mayor Avery, E. W. Giddings, president of the chamber of commerce, and other business men, a reply was made to Mr. Pinchot. The telegram, in part, was as follows:

"We greatly appreciate the work that has been done and is being done by the forestry department, but we cannot agree to the reduction of the appropriation. We understand that Chief Forester Graves has stated to the committee in congress that the proposed reduction would cripple the service and interfere with its work. If this is so, we would not feel justified in urging our congressmen to oppose the reduction."

The reply was signed by Mr. Avery as mayor and Mr. Giddings as president of the chamber of commerce.

Did Not Know Mother Was Dead Until He Saw Her Body at Crematory

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 6.—Not until the day the body of his mother arrived at a crematory did a young man learn that she had died. According to his testimony at the Thurston will contest today, he received a message from Hoboken, N. J., saying his mother had passed away, and he lost no time in hastening there. Patterson was preparing to tell what he saw in the crematory as the coffin was about to be lowered into the furnace, when counsel for Mrs. Katherine Finley, the other contestant under the will of Mrs. Horner M. Thurston, entered an objection, which blocked this testimony and resulted in what was construed as an important victory for the defense.

PALATKA, Fla., Feb. 6.—The Republican state convention split into two factions soon after being called to order today, one body going to another hall, where delegates to the national convention of the Progressive party, the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt, and the regular administration faction, after the departure of the Progressives, elected delegates to the Chicago convention, whom they instructed to vote for the nomination of President Taft.

WOMAN MINISTER CALLED TO HILLSIDE Succeeds Son in Congressional Pulpit

Mrs. Minnie Ward Patterson, daughter of the late Senator John W. Patterson, was called today to the congressional pulpit at the Hillside Methodist church, where she will succeed her son, who was elected to the senate last year.

Mrs. Patterson was born in Ohio, and was educated at the University of Michigan, where she received the degree of Master of Arts. She was a classmate of the late John W. Patterson, who was a trustee of the college for 34 years. After graduation Mrs. Patterson devoted much of her time to spiritual writing, for magazines and newspapers, and for a number of years was a contributor to the Youth's Companion, Wide Awake, and other popular publications.

Her husband, Mr. Patterson, was a prominent lawyer and politician, and was a member of the United States senate from 1890 to 1896. He was a close friend of President McKinley, and was one of the leading advocates of the annexation of the Philippines.

Mrs. Patterson is a member of the Hillside Methodist church, and is a devoted worker in the church and in the community. She is a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and is a member of the National Woman's Party.

BITTER FEELING APPARENT AT TEXAS MURDER TRIAL

Adherents of Boyce and Sneed Families Occupy Opposite Sides of Court Room Each Day

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 6.—The Boyce and Sneed families, who are constant attendants at the trial of J. P. Sneed, accused of the murder of A. J. Boyce, and sit on opposite sides of the court room. Women are among them, in spite of the warning of Judge Sneed that women tending to the trial would be removed. A bitter feeling is apparent between the two families, and the women are often seen in the courtroom, and the women are often seen in the courtroom.

GOV. STUBBS REITERATES ROOSEVELT PROPHECY

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 6.—Colonel Roosevelt told me that he considered it the duty of every American citizen to answer the call of his country whether it was in time of war or peace," the statement of Gov. W. B. Stubbs, made here today, on his return from a trip to the east and a visit with Colonel Roosevelt at the Onlook office in New York.

Governor Stubbs reiterated that Colonel Roosevelt is not seeking and does not want the presidential nomination, but declared that he is satisfied that he will accept it if it is offered to him.

TR. Roosevelt boom is like a running horse, said the governor. "It is going rapidly and will be hard to stop. I was surprised to find that many of the big interests in the east that have been in fairness for Roosevelt for president. I was surprised to find that Roosevelt sentiment is so strong."

CABINET TAKES UP MEXICAN TROUBLE

President's Official Family Discusses Precautionary Measures

ADDITIONAL ARMY ORDERS Posts Throughout U. S. Told to Be Ready for Possible Mobilization

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—President Taft and his cabinet turned a scrutinizing eye towards Mexico today. Official dispatches placed before the president seriously questioned the loyalty of Pascual Orozco to the Mexican federal government, and intimated that the present conditions in the state of Chihuahua, bordering on Texas, might develop into a movement of secession and be an impediment to the republic in the north.

The president discussed precautionary measures with his official family, and tonight the war department has sent additional orders to army posts throughout the country to be ready for a possible mobilization. The department of justice has instructed its agents of measures necessary in enforcing neutrality, while the state department has asked for quick reports from consular agencies of any danger to Americans or their interests.

Would Create New Situation After today's meeting the president

professed not to be alarmed over the situation. It was admitted in official circles that the separation of Chihuahua from the rest of Mexico would create a situation different in many respects from that which existed during the last rebellion.

It is believed that there would not be much fighting on the border, for with Chihuahua in the hands of Orozco and adherents, the new revolutionists would concentrate at the city of Chihuahua, 200 miles south of the border, where the advance of an army from Mexico City first would be contested.

American special agents are reported to be watching the activity of Emilio Vasquez Gomez, now in San Antonio, and said to be the real leader of the new rebellion. It was rumored here that Gomez, in exile, might have made common cause with Orozco, at the nation's expense, the hope of the latter to become governor of Chihuahua was blighted by the federal government.

Overhauling Pontons LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Feb. 6.—

Company M, corps of engineers, stationed at Fort Leavenworth, today received an order from the war department directing that the ponton bridge sections stored here be prepared for shipment to Texas, in the event that orders are issued for the mobilization of troops along the Mexican border.

Company M had charge of the ponton bridge section at the Leavenworth camp at San Antonio last year.

TRAIN HOLDUP IN SOUTH

MEMPHIS, Feb. 7.—Rock Island passenger train No. 43, westbound, was held up by masked men at the western terminus of the railroad bridge, which crosses the Mississippi river at Memphis early this morning. It is reported that the safe in the express car was dynamited and robbed.

The train left Memphis shortly after midnight and crossed the bridge an hour later. Immediately after the train cleared the bridge it was stopped, and within a few minutes a fusillade of shots was heard, followed by several blasts of an explosion. Efforts to communicate with the Arkansas side of the river failed, all of the wires having been cut off or disconnected, supposed by the bandits.

A search tender some distance from the scene reported the train had been held up, but beyond that fact he could give no details.

A search tender with a posse ahead was started for the scene shortly before 2 o'clock.

Special Services Mark Safe Return of Royalty

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A national thanksgiving service to commemorate the safe return of King George and Queen Mary from India was held today in St. Paul's cathedral. Their majesties with the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary, the queen mother Alexandra and other members of the royal family drove to St. Paul's through a chilly, damp fog and deep slush.

Nevertheless, immense crowds stood along the streets and cheered the procession, which consisted of five carriages and an escort of household cavalry, as it passed slowly toward the city. The archbishop of Canterbury and York with 10 bishops and many other clergymen received the king and queen on the steps of the cathedral. A procession was then formed, which marched down the center aisle toward the altar. There were more than 5,000 people in the congregation. The service consisted of the national anthem, the Te Deum, five prayers of general thanksgiving and the Hallelujah chorus. Then came a short address by the archbishop of Canterbury, after which all stood and sang with him "We thank thee all our God."

Enjoins Destruction of Steel Corporation Books

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Judge Gray in the United States court of the third circuit has issued an injunction restraining the defendants in the government's antitrust suit against the U. S. Steel corporation from destroying books and papers desired by the government.

The injunction was issued on a petition of the department of justice which alleges that certain books, papers and documents, which were used in the government's criminal prosecution of the wire pool last fall, have been destroyed. The petition avers that certain much wanted documents are in danger of destruction, "because there are officers of the steel corporation and its subsidiaries who have not yet been indicted for the practices which said papers tend to show them guilty of, to-wit:—

"Of having been involved in the aforesaid unlawful association and also because none of the defendant companies has yet been indicted in respect thereto."

LOS ANGELES GRAND JURY AWAITS MORE WITNESSES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 6.—After a short session, the county grand jury adjourned its dynamite investigation until Thursday morning, when it is expected several important witnesses from San Francisco will have arrived here.

Upon the arrival of the San Francisco witnesses, it was said, the county investigators will probe thoroughly into the most serious charge, that of murder, connected with the alleged accomplices of the McNamara.

ARRESTS FOR

transcribed. The arrests of men even within easy reach would not be effected at once, he said, as by demanding a copy of his indictment on arrest a defendant could reveal the names of others.

"It is our plan to facilitate the work of the agents that are to make the arrests over the country by not making public the names until all are within reach," Mr. Miller said. "All the arrests are to be made on the same day, wherever the men live or may be sojourning. I must refuse to say anything now as to the positions these men hold, whether they are what are known as 'higher ups' or not, but we are highly gratified with the result of this widespread inquiry."

Arrests Saturday or Monday

"The arrests may not be made until Saturday of this week or Monday of next. There are 3,000 typewritten pages in the indictments and a copy must accompany the capias. Two days probably will be required for the clerical work, and the processes must then be delivered to the United States marshal of the various districts, in which they are to be served. All these will require four or five days."

Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' association, an organization of "open shop" iron and steel contractors whose members have suffered from explosions against their property, called at the district attorney's office.

"This is the culmination of years of effort on the part of the erectors' association not only to protect its members from loss, but to clear the labor unions of the criminal element," Mr. Drew said. "I have devoted my whole time to pursuit of the dynamite since the erectors' association, in the spring of 1905, canceled its contracts with the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers and declared for open shops."

"The public does not realize the scope of this investigation, but when the arrests are made and the facts become known the enormity of the government's task will appear. Working men and society generally will be benefited."

Probed Fully 100 Explosions

Fully 100 explosions of dynamite, at points scattered over 17 states, and governing a period from the summer of 1900 to October 16, 1911, when dynamite was found beneath a bridge near Santa Barbara, Cal., just before President Taft's special train passed over it, were inquired into by the federal grand jury which has investigated what the government has regarded as a nationwide dynamite conspiracy. It has been the theory of the government that all of these explosions were intended to intimidate employers and nonunion workmen with the general intent to abolish the so-called "open shop," and compel submission to the demands of certain labor organizations, more particularly the International Union of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

The states in which explosions occurred were Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Utah, California and Washington. Ohio, with 20 explosions, had more than any other state. Illinois, Indiana and New York follow in order in respect of the number of the explosions.

There were two explosions in 1905; nine in 1906; six in 1907; 26 in 1908; 20 in 1909; 25 in 1910; and 13 in 1911. These figures are exclusive of the explosion which wrecked the Los Angeles Times plant, and resulted in the confessions and imprisonment of the brothers John J. and James H. McNamara. John J. McNamara was secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Erectors Assn. Gathered Facts

The preliminary exhibit of facts and allegations about the explosions and their supposed origin was gathered and presented to the Federal authorities by the National Erectors' association, an organization of iron and steel manufacturers and contractors who had declared for the "open shop" after the explosions in 1905, the Erectors' association was formed, and in May, 1906, after declaring as an organization for the "open shop" engaged detectives to seek out the identity of those responsible for the explosions.

One of the first instances of the finding of hidden explosives occurred before the erectors organized and followed an attempt to blow up a building in East Twenty-third street, New York city. Two men were convicted. One of them confessed to having received $150 on one occasion for a "job," and $100 for cutting a cable. He told of the location of 100 one-pound sticks of dynamite, which subsequently were found in the Jersey meadows and in the sands at the foot of East Twenty-fourth street.

Could Not Keep Up With Explosions

The erectors continued their investigations until the spring of 1911, but while the detectives were working in this place, the explosions occurred with more frequency in other places. More than a dozen viaducts, bridges, buildings and other construction work, all being erected by firms employing nonunion labor, had been blown up before Ortle McNamara appeared on the scene, and before he began to work with John J. and James H. McNamara as a professional dynamite.

The investigation of the dynamite conspiracy, after the pleas of guilty had been made by the McNamara brothers, was continued, to ascertain who else, if anyone, participated in or gave financial support to the crimes. The chief explosions, or attempts, which were given special attention by the federal grand jury, were as follows:

Summer—Miller's Falls, Mass.: American Bridge Co.; railroad bridge. (Attempt.)

Summer—New Haven, Conn.: American Bridge Co.; bridge. (Attempt.)

1906.

Jan. 24—New York city: Post & McCord building. East Twenty-third street (attempt); two men convicted; 100 pounds of dynamite later found in Jersey meadows and in sand at the foot of East Twenty-fourth street.

ECZEMA BURNED SO COULD NOT SLEEP

Began in Small Red Spots on Arms and Neck. Soon Spread Over Body. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In One Week Completely Cured.

Smithville, Ind.—"My eczema began in small red spots accompanied by a rash. It started on my neck and spread over my neck and arms, and it burned so that often I could not sleep nights. I tried bathing in borax water, but to no avail. Then I began to use the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I bathed with Cuticura Soap and hot water and applied the Cuticura Ointment every night and morning and in one week it was completely cured through the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) W. ## FOR BAD CASE OF PIMPLES

Physician recommends "Cuticura."

3880 Third Ave., New York.—"About three months ago my face and neck became covered with small red pimples which later developed into large boils and my face was in such a condition that I was obliged to go out of the house. After using salves I went to a hospital for treatment. The head physician told me that my face would be so bad for three or four months for treatment before the boils would even start to disappear."

"A young physician while treating me recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment and told me to treat my face every night before retiring with both the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The results obtained were far better even than the physician expected and was completely cured in a short time by the use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Fred Weinberger, Sept. 7, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 22¢. Box. Address: "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

T. R.

TO countless thousands of Americans Theodore Roosevelt is a political mountebank, a faker and a fraud—the greatest of his kind in history. To hundreds of thousands of others he is the hope of the nation. As usual, the truth lies somewhere between the two extremes. The Roosevelt personality is so complex, so many-sided, and withal so fascinating that it dazzles the ordinary observer and clouds his judgment. A calm, unbiased estimate of the ex-President is a thing for which one may search through the flood of Roosevelt literature in vain.

But one fact stands out on the political horizon just now as plainly as a rising sun. It is this. Theodore Roosevelt can be the next President of the United States if he wants to be. He has only to express his willingness to accept the Republican nomination and it will be his, and if nominated he will be elected. If he does not do this Taft will be nominated and defeated. Taft cannot win over Wilson; he probably cannot beat Bryan; it is doubtful whether he can defeat any other probable Democratic nominee. He is so lamentably weak that if it were not for the power of patronage which his office gives him he would not be considered as a candidate at all.

The Chicago convention is still nearly five months off. At this date one guess is as good as another, and our guess is that within sixty days, perhaps within thirty days, Roosevelt will frankly declare his willingness to take the Republican nomination if the Republicans of the country want him to have it, and that immediately all other booms and candidacies will collapse. And if Roosevelt is nominated he will be elected.

AN OLD WIVES' TALE

SUPERSTITIONS and old wives' tales die hard. There seems to be no fallacy so fallacious that it does not continue to have its militant supporters. For instance, there is one cult that strenuously holds the earth to be flat; another maintains that the earth is hollow. An enthusiast may consider any one of a thousand hobbies to which his attention is attracted as of the extreme importance. He may consider it all important for the human race to wear Greek togas in all seasons; or he may advocate indefinite fasting as a cure for all diseases; or he may become a convert to some mysterious eastern cult with its mystical ritual. In any case he becomes a fanatic and the peculiarity of a fanatic is that he is impervious to reason and indifferent to facts.

The Ladies Home Journal has recently revived an exploded old wives' tale. In an article by Sarah Curtis Mott, entitled "The Child That Is to Be," this bit of misinformation has been spread broadcast over the country:

Numerous cases are on record which conclusively prove that if the mother during the period of the formation of the child experiences the sudden sight or even a mental picture of physical deformity it affects the forming child to the extent of reproducing that deformity in the child. A woman, whose husband had to have both limbs amputated on account of an accident, bore an infant whose legs were as if cut off at the same point. Another woman had a "wild dream of a man minus part of the left ear. Her baby revealed the same defect. Another woman passed on the street a beggar who held up the stump of a hand on which were only the thumb and the little finger. Her unborn child was frightfully deformed.

This information is truly astounding. We are reminded of a cartoonist's picture entitled "What Happened After the Circus Parade Passed." It pictured an astonished hen viewing her miscellaneous brood of birds and quadrupeds leaving their shells. Until reading the article in the magazine edited by Mr. Bok we were under the impression that the picture was drawn in a spirit of fantastic humor. However, to Sarah Curtis Mott it apparently offers documentary evidence of prenatal influence.

There are other marvels related by Miss (it surely cannot be Mrs.) Mott. Expectant mothers are thus advised:

That the unborn child is a sensitive plate which records and later develops and reveals whatever impressions are thrown upon it through the medium of the mother's emotions and sensations has been tested and proved. For example,

It is quite possible to implant the love of books, music, pictures and flowers, or to instill other helpful inclination in the coming child. One may even make it a predominant characteristic. A woman I am acquainted with, who wished her child to possess an aptitude for art, made a point of visiting picture galleries and "tasting" the eyes on the beauties of line and color. When the child was old enough to notice his surroundings the first object to attract his wandering attention was a picture. In a way it was familiar. He was vaguely conscious of having seen a like object before. This taste in developing with his growth, and though he must choose an artistic career, his love of art will always be a refining element in his life, a personal pleasure and a resource of possibly greater benefit to his posterity. See how far-reaching may be this one woman's idea. It is not possible, of course, for all of us to reach art galleries, but the poorest of us can have good pictures in the home, even if they only cost a penny each.

It would be of great service to psychologists, physicians and students of heredity and biology in general if the author would place her material at their command.

Francis Galton spent a lifetime in the study of heredity. He collected and published abundant data on heredity in his famous "Hereditary Genius," published in 1869. In the preface to an edition of this book published in 1892 Galton made the following statement:

"As a general rule, with scarcely any exception that cannot be ascribed to other influences, such as bad nutrition or transmitted microbes, the injuries or habits of the parents are found to have no effect on the natural form or faculties of the child."

Another writer, Dr. Sateeb, has written a book on "Parenthood and Race Culture." After explaining the physiological relation of mother and unborn child, he says:

"We see now why the learning of geometry on the part of the mother before its birth will not set her baby upon that royal road to geometry of which Euclid rightly denied the existence. Any more than after its birth. Such a thing does not happen, and there is no conceivable means by which it could happen unless we are to call in telepathy. All maternal hopes and efforts of this kind are utterly misguided, as misguided as if the father entertained similar hopes."

The Eugenics Laboratory of University College, London, the Eugenics Record Office at Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island, the Volta Bureau for the study of deaf-mutes at Washington, and the Eugenics Educational Society of Great Britain, are all founded on the supposition that inherited traits are due to something more than the fleeting state of mind of the mother. Sarah Curtis Mott has classified those who do not accept her evidence. "Only the narrow-minded and ignorant," she says, "refuse a belief in prenatal influence." Thus does she overwhelm the painstaking, scientific investigators with her scorn.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

A WOMAN'S LEAGUE SONG.
To the Editor of The Gazette.
Regarding the item in last Sunday's paper of the social of the American Woman's league, allow me to make a correction. There has been no song adopted by the American Woman's league as its national song.

When the opportune time arrives all who wish to make complete for that honor. A MEMBER.
Colorado Springs, Feb. 6

FROM OTHER PENS

DIRECT ELECTION OF SENATORS.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.
We hope it is true that the members of the present congress are disposed to get together on some amendment looking to the direct, popular election of United States senators. In spite of the stumbling block, the question of federal control of senatorial elections, we know that where there is a will there is a way. The Bryan compromise, involving "state option" as to the method of choosing senators, is available as a last resort.
The simple fact is that the Bristow amendment providing for federal control is neither so dangerous as some southern senators affect to believe nor so vital as certain Republicans represent it to be. We can get along fairly well without federal control of senatorial elections, and if we had a definite provision for such control in the direct election amendment it would be a paper provision. It is senseless and as Senator Borah has said, insincere to magnify that side issue. Direct election of senators is demanded by the progressives of all parties, and should come without further needless delay.

This is a presidential year, and voters expect to see real advance with reference to the question under discussion.

LITERATURE AND SLANG.

From Colliers.
"Booze," as a word connected with taking strong waters, dates back two centuries, and in the spelling "boozie" may be found at even as remote a date as 1300. "Fresh," in its significance of forward, comes from 1808. "Some pumpkins," popular slang in bucolic circles, is of ancient lineage. "Gib" has been slang for a century. "Blag," on the fence between slang and English, has survived generations. In the Knickerbocker Magazine of 1855 we find an author telling of "a party of old brags who were keeping up a small stag party at the end of the room." "Squelch" in the seventeenth century was in good use. Of two words in vogue to express drunkenness half a century ago, "light" is much alive, while "whittled" has been dropped. There are no fixed laws to gauge the life or slang or to predict its entrance into the language. Will "high-brow," for example, find its way into the mouths of grand-children yet unborn, or will it take its place in the ranks of obsolete curiosities?

THE CAUSE OF PROGRESS.

From the Chicago Tribune.
The histories of all reform movements are strikingly similar. Power long entrenched in an organization has been known to be abused. The wielders of power are corrupt, overbearing, intolerant. Their power seems irresistible. Then, rise a few fearless beings in opposition. They are feared at first, and temporarily suppressed, but, tireless and fearless, they slowly make headway. Little by little their cause grows. When it demonstrates that it has actual possibility of success its increase becomes rapid. Right-minded people, hitherto deterred by indifference or timidity, join them, and with them, unfortunately, many actuated by personal hostility to the powers that be and by world ambition.

At last comes the moment when success is at hand. This moment, so long awaited is the most dangerous of all. Some of the old leaders have passed away. Some have retired. Others, valiant in adversity have met the constructive power to govern a successful movement. Unless strong leaders rise, some demagogic takes advantage of the passion of the moment to seize the reins. The army of progress resolved into a mob. The old guard disposes it and regains its lost ascendancy.
The progressive movement in the United States is in this crisis now. Without strong hands on the reins it will dash to pieces.

A LESSON FROM MASSACHUSETTS.

From the Chicago Tribune.
Among the many good laws with which Massachusetts keeps well up in the front rank of truly progressive states, one of the best has just been upheld by the federal supreme court.

This law provides that no man may assign his wages without the assent of his wife.

Here is a death blow to the loan shark. The next assembly must adjourn without delivering that blow in Illinois. The highest court in the land has put the stamp of its conclusive approval upon it.

The bloodsucking usurer is a shocking anachronism in this century. There is no shadow of excuse for these vampires who prey upon the weak, the sick, the ignorant, waiting to tattoo themselves with accident or mistake (tips for an instant those who are traveling close to the edge of misfortune).

The loan shark must go, and Massachusetts has forged one of the best of weapons against him.

Sunflower Philosophy

The years roll on, so swift, so swift. Old age on us advances, and we into its shadows drift with mournful backward glances. It seems but yesterday that we who taller now and totter, were playing on the sunlit sea or by the woodland water. The days went by on heavy wing, slow then were life's long stages, for childhood seemed an endless thing of eyes and of ages. Thus time to childhood still appears a empty thing on crutches, but childhood past the busy years throw on the high speed clutches. Our minds intent on plan or scheme on triumph or disaster, we do not mark the years that steam by faster and still faster. And then some day the truth comes home the truth that makes man savor, the scattered hairs upon his dome, the pink pains in his liver, the creaking of his shoulder-blades, and many another token, all tell him, while his valor fades, that he is old and broken! It is a thing demanding tears that in our fierce endeavor we do not prize the speedy years until they are gone forever.

This Will Quickly Make A Rough Pimple Skin Smooth and Velvety

How You Can Make a Flat of Fine Face Cream at Very Little Cost.

Beauty experts say rough, pimply skin quickly yields to unguishing with carol, being clean and velvety, and as this costs little and is easily prepared, it should find a place on every woman's dresser.

To make, get 2 ounces of carol from the drugist and dissolve in a quart of boiling water, stirring until smooth. When cooled, add 1/2 ounce of carol, and all impurities, preventing and dispelling wrinkles and giving the complexion an exquisite bloom and refinement impossible with artificial aids. Men frequently use carol cream after shaving, as it soothes, warms, itching skin.

A more general habit of basing expenditures on one's earnings, instead of on what so-and-so has or does, and a more general realization that life is a place where "all true joys don't hang on material pegs" are things sorely needed by the great majority of the younger generation.

The Great Conflict

A Half-Century Ago Today

FEBRUARY 7, 1862.

General Lander's Union force occupied Romney, Va. The place was without defense of any kind.

Eleven companies of the Cameron dragoons, Colonel Friedman, left their camp near Washington at 4 o'clock in the morning for a reconnaissance of the Confederate picket-line in the vicinity of Germantown, near Fairfax Court House, Va. Approaching Germantown they surprised a Confederate picket detachment in a house and captured it, after a skirmish in which Captain Wilson was shot through the ear and neck. The prisoners were brought back to camp.

The town of Harper's Ferry suffered severely at the hands of the Union artillery, which opened fire with shell and caused the destruction of the Hotel Wager and several houses. The firing was precipitated by a misunderstanding over a flag of truce that the Confederates displayed on the shore of the town. Perceiving the flag, Major Geary, in command of the Union force, sent over a boat, which was fired upon by Confederate sharpshooters who were concealed in houses on shore and had not seen the flag of truce. Major Geary thereupon ordered his artillery to open on the town. After the bombardment had ceased the Confederates displayed another flag, but the Union command would not respond to it.

The Confederate General Johnson, anticipating an advance of the Union army, began the evacuation of Manassas.

Fort Church and St. Mary, Ga., and Ferdinand, Fla., were taken by the Dupont expedition. (Copyright, 1912, by W G Chapman)

When cooled, add 1/2 ounce of carol, and all impurities, preventing and dispelling wrinkles and giving the complexion an exquisite bloom and refinement impossible with artificial aids. Men frequently use carol cream after shaving, as it soothes, warms, itching skin.

A more general habit of basing expenditures on one's earnings, instead of on what so-and-so has or does, and a more general realization that life is a place where "all true joys don't hang on material pegs" are things sorely needed by the great majority of the younger generation.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 7, 1882.

A comic opera called "Brittle Silver," written by Stanley Wood and W. F. Hunt of this city, was given at the Opera house with great success. It had previously been performed in Denver and Pueblo.

Sullivan knocked out Ryan in the ninth round of a battle for the heavyweight championship at Mississippi City.

It was reported that a vein of very fine canal coal had been found near Cheyenne mountain.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 7, 1892.

The first of a series of amateur musicals was given at the "College chaps" before an audience which completely filled the room. It was most successful in every way.

The directors of the Canon City and Cripple Creek toll road let the contract for the last seven miles of the grading.

Work was commenced on Colorado City, a new city hall.

Feeding the Heart

[Copyrighted, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey.]

Health, happiness, whatever, is worth living for in this life, depends entirely upon your heart. The kindest persons in the world are often cruel to their own hearts. They fill their days with duties, give up their evenings to the opera, get their stomachs with the dainties, and all this time the heart is being starved.

There are men and women who will tell you that they would be satisfied to live their whole lives without affection, that their hearts would not bother them. I should doubt such statements. A good, healthy heart clamors for food. There is but one delicacy which can satisfy it, and that is love. Without this food to nourish it, one of two things happen. It either withers like the rose in a draft, or it bursts into flame in the breast. The mission of the heart is to diffuse love, and to gather an answering love unto itself. The baby's heart is fed on love, the cooling and kisses of the mother, the caresses of the father. The maiden's heart is fed by admiration which deepens into adoration in the hearts of the lovers, who vie with each other to woo and win her. Last, but by no means least, there is the wife's heart, which feels the need of being fed more than all the rest that have gone before.

Husband's say, "What's the use of making love to one's wife after one has wooed and wed her?" But there never was a graver mistake than this one.
A wife's heart has more need of feeding than that of the maiden. Hope must be mixed with her love to give it stability. Every man of marriageable age should set about finding a sweetheart that he might not be left alone and wretched in his old age, with a heart so shrunken from want of feeding, so faint that it is past reviving. A taste of love now and then does not signify. It only serves to whet the appetite, leaving it hungrier than before. He who takes such a dose of love at one time that his heart recoils from it ever after is quite as foolish as he who willfully starves his heart. The heart is its own owner of what is best to accept or to reject. We all know what happens when one is surfeited with sweets. Food cloy and the heart determines to go on a diet.
It is dangerous to attempt to feed the heart at this stage of affairs. All it needs at such a time is simply quiet and rest. I have often wondered why Cupid, who seemingly knows so much about the workings of the heart, does not constitute himself a physician to cure its ills. The heart feeds upon its fancies.
It is sure to reject that which is not congenial to its taste. The yearning of the heart is its danger signal which should be heeded. When one is given to dependency the heart is sure to yearn for a cheery companionship. If it is joyous, like the skylark, all of its sensibilities are aroused. It has found an object upon which to lavish its affections. Hearts differ as to what each individual one must be fed upon. One grows steadily by the diet of calm affection, which its mate bestows upon it. Another glows only under the passionate warmth of a heart that is all sunshine. The heart is like the vine, ever stretching out its tendrils in groping for something to which it may cling and firmly attach itself. It is a cruelty to try to crush out the young shoots of the heart, knowing it would wither in the bud. No heart can be fed upon friendship alone. Such a diet is not satisfying.

It leaves something sadly wanting. With love and laughter, to feed upon any heart can thrive and grow. Why deny it its rights?
There are different kinds of love; there is healthy food and that which is poisonous. Passion may seem to attack the heart, but it is a side, but it is soon discovered that it cannot thrive upon it. It sickens and wastes its rich treasures. True, pure love alone is the only food which makes the heart vigorous and true to the purpose for which it was created. Great care must be observed upon that on which the heart is fed.

ANSWERS

HE'S SO POPULAR.
"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young man of 25, with dark brown eyes and curly black hair. I am private secretary to a bustling business man. It seems that I am so attractive to the fairer sex that they cannot wait until after working hours, but persist in calling me up during working hours. This embarrasses me much before my employer. I care a great deal for the girls, and would do nothing that would hurt their feeling in the least, but what am I to do to keep them from calling me during working hours? I hope you will take this matter to heart and give me your best advice, for far be it from me ever to do anything that would put me in wrong with the girls."

"A. A."
The girls would have a lot more respect for you if you would not permit them to call you up during business hours. Instruct the telephone operator to take all messages for you for two or three weeks. At the end of that time perhaps the empty pated creatures that call you up will realize that they are annoying you. You seem like a silly boy—I wonder if the annoyance is caused largely by your own foolishness.

AN ANONYMOUS LETTER.
"Dear Miss Libbey: Your good advice has helped me in many ways, please help me in this case. A dear friend of mine, named a letter, somewhat detrimental, concerning myself as well as himself, from some one who did not sign any name, but simply signed, 'From a Friend.' This letter cautioned him not to be seen with me so often because I was of a disreputable character. In the meantime, my friend gave me the letter to read, which has annoyed me since. What is your opinion of such person who wrote a letter and signed 'From a Friend,' also what is your opinion of my friend in showing me the letter?" THOMAS B."

Anyone who writes an anonymous letter is too despicable for words. No one with any judgment will give a second thought to a letter of that type.

SHALL SHE CALL HIM UP?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 24 and considered sensible for my age. About three years ago I went with a nice fellow for six months and fell in love with him. I left the city for five months and on my return I found he had another girl; so I never called him up or wrote to him since. I have now heard through friends that he has given up this girl and I have often thought I would either write to him or call him up, but am afraid he might think me foolish or crazy about him. HELEN."

No, don't call him up. If he is interested in you he'll do the calling up.

DR. STOUGH MARRIES FRENCH GOVERNESS

Ceremony Performed in Denver Last December Couple Are Now in Europe

Announcement was made yesterday of the marriage of Dr. Charles E. Stough, a prominent surgeon of this city, and Miss Madeline G. Teller, 15 years old. The marriage took place in Denver December 30, 1911, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Christian Buckish, a Lutheran minister. Dr. and Mrs. Stough are spending their honeymoon in Europe.

Dr. Stough was divorced by his first wife, Mrs. Carrie Lemen Stough, December 24, 1910. The present Mrs. Stough was formerly a governess in the Stough home, caring for his 10-year-old daughter, Hattie. Dr. Stough, who is now in California with her mother. It was when she was about to take up her duties in the Stough home that Dr. Stough first met his second wife. She was born in France and came to this country with her aunt.

Dr. and Mrs. Stough sailed from New York on the Lusitania, January 24, for Europe. Dr. Stough will take a special course in surgery at Vienna, Austria, before returning to America. They expect to be away several months. Dr. Stough's friends express doubt as to whether he will resume his practice in Colorado Springs, although he announced before leaving that he would be back at his old home, 816 North Nevada avenue, in about eight months.

SPRINGS AND MANITOU TO SIGN CONTRACT IN MATTER OF LAND BILL

Attorney C. W. Dolph, representing Manitou, Attorney Henry C. Hall, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and City Attorney C. L. McKesson, city attorney, representing Colorado Springs, are still engaged in the work of drawing up the proposed watershed land bill. A description of the territory needed by Manitou has been obtained and passed on by the city council. A representative of the Colorado Springs city engineer's office is in Denver going over the maps of the state and board getting a description of the land needed by this city. The bill probably will be prepared this week. It is likely that a special delegation from the two cities will take the bill to Washington and work for its passage.

It was announced yesterday that the town of Manitou would start work as soon as the weather is agreeable on the new reservoir. Bonds, to the extent of $10,000, were voted and sold a short time ago. The reservoir will be located on French creek, five miles above Manitou.

A contract was drawn up last night and adopted by the Manitou council, which will govern the two cities in case the watershed bill is passed by congress. It gives the two cities the right to traverse each other's ground with pipes and employees may visit the land at any time in keeping the lines in condition. The contract will probably be presented at today's meeting of the city council.

News of Local Courts

Patrick O'Brien has been ordered to appear before the federal court in Denver and stand good for the $250 bond offered for the appearance of Mrs. Olive Stewart, who failed to appear in court yesterday. She was to have had a hearing then on a charge of raising a $10 bill to $50 and obtaining money from a local grocery company. O'Brien signed the bond.

William H. Allison was granted a divorce from Hattie Bradford Allison, by Judge W. S. Morris, in the district court, yesterday. He charged cruelty.

Grace Crose filed suit for divorce against Joseph H. Crose, in the county court, yesterday. She charges cruelty and nonsupport. They were married in Northboro, Ia., in September, 1895. She asks for the custody of a 4-year-old son, Weldon.

Mrs. H. H. Ration, the authorities say, was attempting to work the same game on which she is alleged to have duped Colorado Springs women, when she was arrested in Ogden, Utah. Mrs. Ration was brought here late Monday night. Her husband and 8-year-old son were with her. She is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses by failing to carry out alleged contracts for giving "beauty lessons."

Mrs. Anna Personett and son, Frank, were arrested yesterday on a charge of disturbance. B. L. Salisher swore to the complaints in Justice O'Brien's court.

H. M. Berry was found guilty of grand larceny by a jury in the district court, yesterday. Sentence has not been passed by Judge W. S. Morris. Berry took two watches, valued at $40, from the M. K. Myers pawn shop.

Four pigs were stolen from the B. N. Babcock hog ranch, two miles south of the city, Monday night. Five were left in the pen. The pigs weighed about 40 pounds each. The authorities think that there were six men in the hog-stealing party, and that the pigs were taken away in sacks. The trails of the thieves led to this city.

Six men were found guilty on charges of vagrancy, by Judge Starrett of the police court, yesterday. They were given fines of $10 each and sent to the rock pile.

PORTLAND'S VICTOR MILL HANDLES BIG TONNAGE

Monday was the biggest day in the history of the new mill at Victor according to officials of the Portland Gold Mining company, when 300 tons of low-grade ore were treated. As pointed out in the Portland company's annual report, published in The Gazette yesterday, the mill last year netted 38 per cent on the amount represented in its cost. The cost of treating ore last month was cut down to $1.08 per ton.

"The future of milling in the Cripple Creek district lies in handling low-grade rock, both in the dumps and underground," said General Manager George M. Taylor, yesterday. "There are millions of tons of rock in the district that can be treated in the same manner as we are handling it and the success of our plant means that others will soon be installed to work over low-grade ore at a good profit. Net profits at the mill last year were more than $125,000."

ENGINEER SAYS BLOCK IS 7 INCHES TOO LONG

Property improvements along the north side of Pikes Peak avenue between Tejon street and Nevada avenue may be handicapped by a discovery made yesterday that the block is seven inches too long. According to M. A. Garstin who made the measurement for C. S. Gambrell and Richard Clough, this will cause trouble in the building of new walls, now being considered by property owners along that side of the street. It is probable that the seven inches, valued at about $100 per inch, will be divided pro rata among the property owners.

HILL WRITES ARTICLE AGAINST FRATERNITIES

Roscoe C. Hill, principal of the Colorado Springs High school, has written an article on "Secret Societies in High School," which appears in the February Review, edited by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, New York city.

The article was submitted as part of his thesis work for the degree of master of arts at Colorado college. It takes up the question as a national subject, giving general and local experience in the fight being made against the fraternities. Mr. Hill gives many reasons why he is opposed to high school fraternities and sororities, and says they have been stamped out at the Colorado Springs High school.

How a Thin Person Can Have a Plump and Attractive Figure

Old-World Tonic Proven to Be of Rare Value in Energizing Delicate Tissues and Rounding Out Hollows

Beauty experts realize the rare properties of a gailoi tonic for energizing delicate tissues and developing the figure, and because of the fact this old-world remedy is enjoying great popularity.

Anyone can prepare this tonic by making a syrup with a glass of water and one and-a-half cups of sugar. Into this stir an ounce of gailoi, then take two teaspoonsful before meals. The action of this tonic excites shrunken or under-developed tissues to healthy activity. Run-downs and angular lines disappear and the form soon assumes a plumpness and beauty of contour as Nature intended.

CORFG STUDENTS HURT IN FALL DOWN STAIRWAY

A fall of 10 feet over the balustrade of the stairs in Palmer hall nearly resulted seriously for Ervin Cary and Benton Hamilton, Jr., two Colorado college freshmen, yesterday morning. The young men were scuffling on the steps, when they lost their balance. Hamilton struck his head on the iron steps and was picked up unconscious. Cary received severe bruises about the hips and back. At first it was thought that his hip was broken. Hamilton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benton Hamilton, 315 East Williamette avenue. Cary is the son of Robert Cary, Denver. The young men were able to walk around last evening.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its prenatal work the child finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, speaks pliant and elastic those fibres and softens which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the child may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

Feb. 7—Leach Cross vs. Johnny Dohan, 10 rounds, at Brooklyn, N. Y.
Feb. 8—John Wille vs. George Cotton, six rounds, at Pittsburgh.
Feb. 8—Knockout Brown vs. Billy Carroll, 10 rounds, at Toronto, Ont.

Feb. 9—Dan Daly vs. Sam Cook, 10 rounds, at Cleveland.
Feb. 9—Jimmy Evans vs. Jake Barada, 15 rounds, at St. Joseph, Mo.
Feb. 9—Jack Dillon vs. George Knockout Brown, 10 rounds, at Cleveland.
Feb. 10—Kid McCoy vs. Frank Moran, 20 rounds, at Paris, France.

Middleweights and lightweights will provide the principal battles on the pugilistic calendar for the present week. The most important bouts carded are:

Monte Attell and Chick Hayes are due to mingle in a return engagement at Indianapolis, tonight.

Leach Cross will take on Johnny Dohan in a 10-round contest at New York city, tonight.

Kid McCoy who is coming back after a long absence from the ring, will take on Frank Moran at Pittsburgh at Paris, Saturday.

It is reported that Eddie McGearty, the Wisconsin star middleweight, also will be seen in action this week, his opponent being Billy Hurley. There is some uncertainty about this match, though, as McGearty hurt his hand in his bout with Walter Coffey at New York city last Tuesday night, and the manager may not be in shape to enable him to box again for a few days.

Redmond will be a busy scrapper for the next few weeks. Jack will resume training for an eight-round engagement with either Grover Hayes or Joe Mangot, at Memphis, on February 12. The following week he is booked to appear at New Orleans again, his opponent to be selected later.

According to Parisian advice, Kid McCoy, the ring Lothario, will take on Frank Moran, a Pittsburgh heavyweight, in a 20-round battle at Paris, France, next Saturday night. McCoy, on the strength of his former reputation, is gathering in some of the easy shekels in France, and in his one fight there with George Gunther, he made such a fine showing that he practically has convinced the Parisians that he is as good as he ever was, and a little bit better.

Gunther is a colored heavy, with a checked ring career. He never amounted to very much over here, but in England and France he has built up quite a following. By earning a 20-round decision on points over this black man, McCoy landed plump into the lap of Parisian popularity, and right now the press of Paris is lauding the fox Kid to the skies.

Not so with some of the English critics, however. To read the opinions that some of the British scribers have expressed, McCoy, it would appear, is the veteran is getting away with a bluff that would not be tolerated in this country for an instant. Here is what E. L. Luck, a noted sporting writer and the Paris correspondent of "Boxing," an English authority on the prize ring, has to say of the McCoy-Gunther contest:

"The Gunther-McCoy passage-at-arms was just one of those things that the least said about them the better. Take you ask. No, not necessarily, but if neither men can do better than he did on this occasion, then there is little hope for either. McCoy did very little, and although Gunther did more, it was no less ineffective. Such a ragged show deserves to be passed by with little comment. The little the Americans did do, however, was good."

"Straight lefts and uppercuts were his principal contributions, while Gunther strove to hit everything, and in the process mostly struck the shoulder, body or head. McCoy possessed at least two valuable assets over Gunther—speed and public sympathy. It certainly could not have been McCoy's boxing that won him the many cries of support that reached his ears during the battle. Whatever it was, the glorious Kid, one-time world-beater, was not doing much to call for such admiration, except—ah—yes, except look much pleasanter than his opponent and work with more coolness and spectacular effect. If the judges awarded him the decision on that reckoning, Gunther was 'totally outclassed.' But if we are to take the forcing into consideration and the fact that one man did all the work—however ineffective it was—then methinks a kinder disposition might have supervened."

If the Lucas opinion of McCoy is an accurate one then McCoy is due for a lot of trouble when he faces Moran next Saturday. Moran has made a distinct hit with the British ring fans, due chiefly to the mastery way he was pouncing off Fred Storbeck, the heavyweight champion of South Africa, before Storbeck felled him in the seventh round of their engagement at London, on January 6, last.

For the first five rounds, it was

"UMPS" MUST USE GOOD JUDGMENT DEALING WITH BASEBALL FANS

"Don't look for trouble! Don't go on the ball field with a chip on your shoulder. Enough was will just naturally happen," writes Billy Evans in the Sporting News. That is a bit of advice to give to the umpire, the young umpire who seeks to reach the big league. That was the first package of wisdom the veteran Jack Sheridan handed me when I made my major league debut, and I have never forgotten it. It was golden advice.

The umpire of today is clothed with unlimited authority, but that is no reason why he should be constantly flaunting that fact in the faces of players and fans. It is always best to escape arguments if possible. On the other hand, one must be firm when the only way to quell disturbance is to put into force the power vested in the umpire.

There are any number of fans and some players who believe the average umpire is constantly seeking to show his authority, much to the sorrow of the fans and the disgust of the players. Such is an erroneous impression. Every individual seeks to succeed in his chosen profession; the umpire is no exception to the rule. Constant turmoil always works to the detriment of the persons involved. Every time the umpire is forced to eject a man from the game, no matter how just the cause, he is starting trouble. It is only natural, then, that the same umpire should seek to escape such trouble. Every now and then there is some umpire who seems to delight in making his presence known by his antagonistic attitude, but such men are greatly in the minority in the ranks of the umpires.

Many times it must seem to the spectators as if the umpire is taking snap judgment in putting a certain player out of the game for no apparent reason. If the average fan were in the place of the umpire he would have probably reached such a decision much sooner.

Very often the umpire has the best of reasons for his action, yet it may seem to the spectator as if he were using mighty poor judgment. It is on such occasions that the umpire is forced to accept more than his share of abuse. When the fans are familiar with what has happened, they are always fairer than when wholly ignorant of the reason for the ejection of their favorite player.

After such a happening, all kinds of complimentary ("O" expressions) are hurled at the umpire. "What are you getting for today's game?" "You're a daylight robber!" "You're in the wrong business; you ought to have a dark lantern and a jimmy instead of an indication." "Why don't you reform and try to be honest?" "How much have you got on the game?" These are just a few of the many hundreds of expressions that are hurled at the umpire after he has given a very close and easily decision against the home team.

In reality, the fans don't mean a thing they say. In the heat of passion over the adverse decision, they cut loose at the poor umpire as the target. They say things to him from the stand that would cause immediate ejection from a theater, and then arrest if they made the same line of talk to some ham-fist actor. The umpire plays the role of villain in the baseball drama every day. In the theater the patrons confine their feelings for the villain to a storm of hisses. The baseball villain in the eyes of fandom—the umpire—is forced to accept a lot of things aside from hisses, most of which he has never requested. With some it is always "Let us get the umpire's goat."

When you think it all over, the record of the umpire since the organization of the game has been a most remarkable one. Never has an official committed a dishonest act. Although often charged during the games with being the worst type of a crook, the reputations of the men who handle the indicator remain untarnished. No bribe, however large, has ever for a minute made the umpire falter. He has always stood for all that is clean and square, and as a result, baseball has been kept honest so far as the umpires are concerned.

It would be an easy matter for an umpire to escape abuse by being a home umpire. Yet that is the greatest disgrace that can happen to an official. That is one thing that every successful umpire prides himself on the giving of his decision without fear or favor. He would prefer that the player insist he was stone blind, rather than have him say that he was a home umpire.

The average fan would have more consideration for the work of the umpire if he could just bear in mind one thing when the team is playing at home.

It is the fact that his favorite club must play in seven other towns in the circuit—that in those seven cities his favorite club has no followers to speak of to cheer it on. His fate rests entirely in the hands of the umpire. He is the one man who must give a square deal for it to have a chance. The umpire makes lots of mistakes, of course, but the successful fellow is the fellow who is always looking out for fair play to all parties concerned, visiting team or home team.

During the course of a game the fans are often provoked because the umpire has decided a number of close plays against the home club. It seems to them as if the official must have it in for their favorites. The umpire has no chance in the matter; he is simply performing his duties as best he knows how. His salary is just the same, no matter what team wins the pennant.

Naturally, the home fan is a bit partisan, and he can see the close plays only in favor of the home club—a decision any other way seems like discrimination. If on such occasions, the fan would only think of the many games the home club is forced to play on the road, he would get a better opinion of the judge of play. The fans in every one of the other cities in which his club must play, believe the umpire is discriminating against them.

But then, that is what makes baseball popular. If someone could invent a mechanical umpire, who never made a mistake, much of the interest in the game would die out.

Every umpire will tell you that seven times out of 10 the man substituted for the player ejected will cut a figure in the outcome of the game. Usually the substitute delivers the hit or makes the catch that wins or saves the day. Every now and then the substitute will pull some play that loses the contest. If such a thing happens, the position of the umpire is made more delicate than ever. It is easy for fandom to figure how the regular man would have easily made the play and won the game.

In this connection I shall always recall an important game played between Detroit and Chicago, several years ago. Despite Ed Walsh's wonderful prowess as a pitcher, Detroit, until of late, has always been a very hard club for him to beat. Doc White, on the other hand, has usually been very effective against the Tigers. In the game in question, Hughie Jennings had selected Bill Donovan as his twirler, while Fielder Jones relied on Ed Walsh. White, having worked the day before, both teams were battling for the pennant, and the game meant much, Detroit at the time enjoying a slight lead over Chicago.

Walsh and Donovan went along in fine style until the fifth, the score standing 1 to 0 in favor of the Tigers. In the fifth, aided by some hitting and fielding errors, Detroit piled up four runs, apparently clinching the game. The last run was a clean steal of home by Cobb.

This decision by Tim Hurst, who was working the plate, caused a strenuous protest on the part of Chicago. It finally resulted in the banishment of Ed Walsh and Eddie Hauser from the game. White was substituted for Walsh and Mike Wehlay sent to right field for Chicago. During the rest of the game White held the Tigers helpless, not a man reaching third base in the last four innings. Chicago, on the other hand, aided by two missed fly balls in the outfield, tied up the game and scored the winning run on a single by Mike Wehlay.

That evening, in our dressing room, one of the sporting writers suggested that the substitution of White for Walsh saved the day, to which Tim replied in his characteristic manner: "Sure it did. You see, if the manager refuse to use judgment in removing the pitchers, the umpires must."

M'FARLAND WINNER IN GO WITH BURNS NEW BALL LEAGUE READY FOR SEASON

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Packer McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, had the better of every round except the ninth, which was even, of a 10-round bout with Kid Burns of New York at the Fairmount A. C., tonight. The stock yards champion was victorious to extend himself, and at the end had Burns very weak and tired and bleeding from nose and mouth. There were no knockdowns.

Burns appeared afraid of McFarland, fighting cautiously, while Packer coolly measured his man, feinted him into a lead, and then drove in lefts and rights to the face and body.

In the seventh round, Burns landed a long, wild swing to McFarland's jaw, staggering the westerner for a moment, but quickly recovering, Packer landed a fusillade of blows to the face.

In the ninth Burns landed his only effective blow, two wild swings that landed squarely on McFarland's right eye, almost closing it.

In the tenth, Burns started with a rush and landed a right and left to the face. McFarland, however, stopped the New Yorker with right uppercut to the face and body.

READING, Pa., Feb. 6.—William Abbott Witman, of this city, president of the new United States Baseball League, issued his first official bulletin tonight announcing the completion of the circuit. The season will open on May 1. Contracts with players will be made from one to three years at the option of the club themselves. At the expiration of their contracts they will be free agents. There will be no reserve clause. The owners of the franchises are:

COSTER OUTPOINTS PARISIAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Louis Deponchien, the French lightweight, and Joe Coster of Brooklyn fought 10 fast rounds in Brooklyn tonight. The Frenchman was aggressive throughout, but the consensus of opinion was that Coster outpointed him.

CAT LIVING FIREBRAND

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A cat overturned a small oil stove in an apartment house on Thirty-fifth street early today, igniting its fur and then ran wildly about the house all aflame, setting fires in a half dozen rooms simultaneously. The fire cost the life of the cat's mistress, Mrs. Mary McDonnell, 75 years old. Another aged woman, Mrs. Rose Murphy, was so severely burned that she will die. The property loss from the fire was small.

WESTERN MAGNATES MEET IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Representatives of all the clubs in the Western baseball league are here tonight, in readiness for the annual scheduled meeting tomorrow. Matters to be transacted are the adoption of a schedule and the election of a vice president and a member of the board of directors.

"Harmony probably will be the keynote of the meeting," said President O'Neill. "We shall be in session but a short time, I think."

Concerning the schedule, the big question is whether one of 168 or one of 184 games will be adopted. Two sets of schedules, one of each size, have been drawn up, and so, no matter which one is adopted, there will be no delay in informing each team just what trips it must make during the year.

No candidates have appeared for the two vacant offices. Frank Duncan, formerly vice president, passed out the league with the sale of his interest in the Sioux City club, and John F. Higgins, formerly a member of the board of directors, recently disposed of his share in the Des Moines team. The following men are here:

D. C. Despain, Lincoln; W. A. Rourke, Omaha; E. J. Hanson, Sioux City; Frank Isbell, Des Moines; John Holland, St. Joseph; J. C. McGill, Denver; A. M. Catlin, Topeka, and George Bradford and F. E. McMullen, Wichita.

RACING RESULTS

JUAREZ, Mex., Feb. 6.—After an enforced layoff of four days, racing was resumed at Juarez today, and one of the best crowds of the meeting turned out to witness the races. Uncle Ben, at 10 to 1, proved a big surprise when he defeated a fine field in the handicap at seven furlongs. He was hard ridden at the end to win by six lengths from Kootenay, with the favorite, Meadow, third. Results:

First race, 6 furlongs—Hugh Gray, 15 to 1, won; Prazzle, 7 to 2, second; Isom, 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:13.25.
Second race, 1 mile—Wicket, 4 to 1, won; Bit of Fortune, 4 to 1, second; Death Mate, 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:39.15.
Third race, 6 furlongs—Gemmell, 15 to 1, won; Chila, 8 to 1, second; Lyte Knight, 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:12.
Fourth race, 7 furlongs—Uncle Ben, 10 to 1, won; Kootenay, 7 to 1, second; Meadow, 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:25.15.
Fifth race, 5 1/2 furlongs—Amohajko, 4 to 1, won; Aguin, 2 to 1, second; Free, 7 to 2, third. Time, 1:07.
Sixth race, 1 mile—Zulu, 10 to 1, won; Piglet, 5 to 1, second; Eye White, 3 to 2, third. Time, 1:40.15.

FISH CLUB MEMBERS NAMED AS WARDENS

Members of the Colorado Springs Fish Protective association will be appointed deputy game wardens in order that better protection can be offered the fishing streams of this locality. This promise was recently made to Rod Powell by State Fish and Game Warden Shinn. Probably 12 members at all will be deputized.

At last night's meeting of the club in the Powell-Donner sporting goods store, O. L. Anderson was elected president for the coming year; W. H. Michaels was named vice president, and Ted Powell, secretary-treasurer. The federal and state authorities have promised to make big shipments of trout fry to Colorado Springs this spring from the federal and state hatcheries. The club will look after the distribution of the fry in North Cheyenne creek, Bear creek, Upper Camp creek, French creek, Catamount creek and Little Fountain and Fountain creek.

NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Prices on the stock market advanced vigorously for a time today. Trading was fairly active, with keen bidding for the Harbinger stocks and some of the solid issues, as well as the coalers. The strength of these issues spread through the list, but the movement seemed to be largely manipulative, and evoked no sustained demand. The coalers and stocks emphasized the inertia of the market at present and the inability of professional traders to move it far in either direction. Explanations of the lack of strength are that the traders are unwilling to take a definite stand until they learn whether there is to be a congressional investigation on the "money trust." The demand for coal stocks resulted in an advance in Central Railroad of New Jersey, which was almost spectacular. The opening bid of 340 was advanced steadily, with no offers, and it was necessary to raise the price 35 points before stock was sold. Delaware & Hudson rose 5 points; Reading, 3, and Lehigh Valley and several other coal stocks scored lesser gains. Great Northern preferred responded to a strong statement of earnings for December. Some of the tobacco stocks showed marked weakness for a time, and American Tobacco broke 6, but later rallied sharply. United States Steel, which rose more than a point, lost most of its gain.

A strengthening influence was the unexpected favorable earnings in January of a number of railroads. Although several roads reported a falling off from the returns of the corresponding month of last year, the showing as a whole was better than had been looked for in view of the unusually severe weather conditions in January.

The bond market ruled firm. Distilleries made up a large part of yesterday's loss, but did not hold the improvement fully. Total sales par value, $2,375,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

The chief separated the men after they had been ejected from the saloon. Johnson is a jockey and the trouble started in a quarrel over the merits of a certain race horse. The colored man has just served a jail sentence

Furniture Prices

At any store in town you may look, you'll find higher prices asked for the same furniture than it is marked on our floor. We buy our goods more cheaply through our immense chain of stores than any one-store concern possibly could, and we sell at correspondingly lower prices. We believe in quality first, last and all the time, but you will find no store in the city that sells goods of equal grade at our prices. Our values are always the best; ask your neighbor who has bought here. Everything marked in plain figures here.

Again, when you pay out your money you expect full value in return. We try to give it, and if an article is not right we'll make it right; you must be satisfied.

May we serve you?

The Furniture and Rug Store

You like to trade where you meet courteous salesmen, pleasant office people and polite delivery men, all these you will find here developed to the highest degree. Moreover, it is their pleasure to be so, not merely their duty.
